Postman API Resources for COVID-19

See the List

During this pandemic, those on the front lines—including health care professionals, researchers, and more—need quick, easy access to real-time critical data. This type of information exchange is what APIs do best, and as an API-first company, Postman is committed to providing whatever assistance we can in this area. Specifically, we’ve created a web page displaying API resources including a list of API collections that can help in the COVID-19 fight.

Information sent via email from The Postman Team on Thursday, March 26, 2020.

Forwarded to Lisa Nelson from Linda Michaelsen.